2005 Tune Up Clinic

f the many technical clinics sponsored by ISOA over the course of a given year, the most popular always seems to be the annual spring "tune-up" clinic. Looking through back issues of Snic Braaapp, even before it was Snic Braaapp, we were not surprised to find that this tradition dates back at least thirty years. Perhaps its due to the fact that all of our cars need routine maintenance, while the trans, hub, differential, clinics have more limited appeal. The other, and equally plausible explanation, is that its always nice to get the cars out for the first time of the year, and for some folks who find meeting attendance difficult, reacquaint themselves with club members with whom they've been out of touch since the previous fall, especially on a nice warm spring day. This year however, despite a spate of pleasant weather earlier in the week, the conditions were more winter like than spring like. Saturday, April 23rd, saw showers – snow not rain- and meteorological conditions in Alaska were infinitely preferable to the climactic situation here in the Heartland The Tribune weather report actually stated that the daytime highs on January 1st were higher than they were last Saturday.

At any rate, this year's rendezvous drew a large crowd to Pyle's Itasca "Home to Wayward Triumphs." The usual suspects, brandishing more umbrellas than Michael's Jackson's bodyguards, began to roll in around 8:00 AM. Billy had the garage warmed up and set for diagnosis by plugging in the club's vintage Sun Machine to measure dwell, timing etc. By 9:30 unofficial estimates put the crowd at nearly twenty ISOAers, with more were on the way.

First up was Bill Jensen's Spitfire. Fresh plugs and a carb tweak by Billy seemed to greatly solve some of his idling issues. Doug Larson's six was a bit more cantankerous and was still reluctant to restart as your humble and obedient scribe made his way home, but late word has it that his ignition problems were ultimately sorted out. Chris Smit sought out the advice and consul of Dave "Snake" Shedor on a lack of power above 3,000 RPM on his GT6.

ther ISOA "tech" spurts provided advice and consul to the less talented wrench masters and there was plenty of kibitzing about various "how to's" exchanged by members who had already "been there, done that" to their cars.

A tasty lunch was prepared by Big Mama, along with some help from Sam's, and although not a seven-course turkey dinner, was more than satisfactory for the hungry wrenchers. As always, it was a day well spent for those who attended, despite the unseasonable weather.

A LITTLE BS FROM BS

News & Views from the Busted Knuckle Garage

By now you've probably heard enough urgent pleas from Ann, Joe, and yours truly about how you should help out at the VTR convention this July in Rockford for the good of the club. I'm guessing that there may be a some Ayn "What's In It For Me?" Rand types out there who are thinking along the lines of BFD. How about this? You might make a few bucks at the convention off the auction! Maybe you heard Ed Krakowiak at the February meeting mention the ungodly sum fetched by a Spitty at the Barrett-Jackson auction and we've all heard of fantastic prices paid for virtual junk on E-Bay. On the other hand, you could stumble across a good deal.

I have attended several VTR and TRA auctions and I have can personally attest that prices brought by some Triumph "stuff" is unbelievable. Ask Ken Briegl or Jay Holekamp how much a Triumph brand AM radio sold for at TRA in Auburn or what a pair of driving light covers brought in Red Wing. On the other hand, there have been some great bargains for those who stuck around for the whole show. I saw a brand new, still in the box, TR 250 interior kit [door panels, seat covers, carpet] sell for less than $100.00 and a TR3 hardtop go for $10.00. Good deals do happen at VTR auctions too.

As this year's "gavelmeister" I'd like to encourage everybody to rummage through that pile of Triumph trash [remember, one man's trash is another man's treasure] that Old Missus has been nagging you to get rid of and bring it to the VTR auction in Rockford. We have the advantage of being the host club, so even if you need to make a separate trip with your items, we can probably arrange temporary storage for unwieldy parts, just help us out by cleaning them up a little first. [The patina may be an important on the Antiques Road show, but it's a PIA for us to move oily, greasy, and sometimes heavy, car parts a couple of times before the auction.] You may put a reserve on your parts and if you don't get your price, you don't have to sell. The club keeps 20% of the sale price and everybody wins, including your significant other [and ergo you since she'll certainly want to express her "gratitude" to you for cleaning out the garage – just don't tell her you bought more stuff to replace the stuff you sold, at least not until after she has "thanked" you].

My favorite event at the '95 convention was the auction. We had a great time while we made a couple of dollars for the ISOA coffers. This year should be no different, but we need a variety of items to sell. Despite my best efforts to "entertain," [and we will have plenty beer expressly to make me seem amusing to the audience - the more you drink, the funnier I get], if we don't have a lot of good stuff to sell, the auction will flop. Here's your chance to help the club and yourself at the same time and maybe have a couple laughs doing it.

Newsletter Submissions: SNIC-BRAAAPP is published 12 times a year and should be received before the monthly ISOA membership meeting. Submissions received by the 10th of the month will probably appear in the next newsletter. Submissions received later may be held until the following month. Late submissions, accompanied by a sizeable gratuity, are occasionally squeezed in at the last minute. Submissions can be either "electronic" or good old fashioned paper. All photos and disks will be returned upon request. [email to the editor]. We will try to make it as easy as possible for you to get your submissions included in this publication. Decisions of the editorial staff are final, maybe.

GARAGE TALK

Overthelast couple of weekends, Spuds and Elwood dropped by to give me a hand on Sandy's Spitfire. As they put it, they wanted to help with the "unskilled" labor portions of the project. This is their way of providing some "payback" for work I have done for them. I don't look at it as payback, I look at it as friendship. As in any relationship it has to be a two way street or it just doesn't work out. You should never expect people to help you in return, as that just seems to be the way it is at times. However when they do help you, no matter how little they think it was, it goes a long way in the mind of the recipient. I really appreciated the assistance as this freed me up to do, as Spuds and Elwood say, "skilled" operations with the final assembly stages. ISOA is great source of assistance but always show your appreciation by returning the favor or by some other act of kindness. It goes a long way, plus you won't have people talking about you in context with such words as leach or parasite.

As I write this I know that I will not make it to this year's tune up clinic. I have a major tune up to do on a certain 76 Spitfire, like finishing the install of the ignition system and starting the car for the first time! This is scheduled on the same weekend. I'm sure this will produce some additional conversation tidbits. Just remember that the best carburettor adjustment that you can do is making sure the ignition system and timing are absolutely correct and working properly.

According to Einstein's basic relativity concepts, the faster you go, time should slow down. All I know is that I am going as fast as I can yet time seems to be speeding up with very little of this precious commodity to spare. Working two full time jobs is wearing me down and there is a plan in place to phase out this ridiculous way of life (or lack of). I am sure many of you are in the same predicament in trying to balance work life and family and Triumph time. Why and how is it that we are putting ourselves in this situation and what is the solution? I'd tell you, but I gotta go as I just ran out of time. Stagmeister

For the past several years, Crystal Lake has hosted cruise nights on Thursday nights. This year they start on June 2 and run until Sept. 1. They are in Downtown Crystal Lake (the old center of town), usually from 6:00 - 8:00 PM.

I just received a call from the person who coordinates the shows. This year, a couple of weeks before the "official" cruise nights begin, the Downtown Merchant's Association is promoting a couple of concerts in mid-May by a group called American English, a "Beatles sound alike" band. I've heard them before and they are quite good. I believe the concerts will be on Friday, May 20 and Saturday, May 21 at the Raue Fine Arts Center in Crystal Lake. Tickets will be sold through the Raue box office, I believe.

Now for our part. The Merchant's Association told me that American English is also scheduled to give a free outdoor "roof top" performance on Thursday, May 19 between 6:00 and 8:00 PM. The Association will promote the concert in the greater McHenry County area. Part of the promotion will include hosting an event which will include a mini car show with various clubs invited. Only groups that have prearranged participation will be able to park in the on-site lots. They would really like to get British cars of all kinds and "VW Beatles." They have asked if we would want to have a space reserved for our group. An area would be set aside for our use only and would be within sight and sound of the roof top concert.

Even though this is a week night, I told them that BCU with its member clubs could probably field at least 20 cars that night. Since there is no financial commitment for us, I thought this would be safe to do. There are several restaurants and watering holes within a block or so of the lot so anyone who wants to eat or drink should be able to do so with little trouble. Or, bring a picnic dinner and folding chairs.

If you or anyone else with a British car or cycle wants to attend, please let me know and I will keep a "sign up list" to plan the number of spaces we will need. Then, when I receive more information, I will give everyone more details. If we need to expand the number of spaces, we can probably do so.

This sounds like it might be a fun time with something a little different to do. Most of the cars should be out of moth balls by mid-May so we might be able to attract a good size group. Hopefully the weather will also be good by then.

Please pass the word on and let me know who might want to attend.

Roster Updates Needed

The 2005/6 ISOA Membership Roster will be printed in June. Please check your roster information at the May meeting or online via the Members Only pages on the ISOA website. Tim Buja, membership chair, has asked that any members who have changed addresses, phone numbers, email accounts, gender, etc, or who have added or subtracted Triumphs to their personal fleets, contact him as soon as possible in order to try to make sure that information in the directory is accurate. Phone Tim at 815/332-3119 or email him at:

ISOA CARAVAN GUIDELINES

TYPICAL DAILY SCHEDULE (The specific day's schedule will depend on how far the caravan plans to go, road conditions, number of cars in caravan, frequency of problems, etc.)

- Be ready to start on the road between 8:00 9:00 am (or whatever time is agreed upon).
- Optional -- sometimes it is necessary to make a brief "pit stop" not long after the start (for personal comfort after pancake breakfasts, etc.). If necessary, we can make a brief pit stop, often at a highway rest area. But everyone should try to be ready to proceed in about 10 minutes.
- Stop for gas and a stretch about 10:30 am. (Try to limit stop to 15 minutes)
- Stop for gas and lunch about 12:30 1:00. (Try to limit stop to 1 -- 1-1/4 hours including getting gas)
- Stop for gas and a stretch about 3:30 4:00. (Try to limit stop to 15 minutes)
- Stop for the evening about 6:00 7:00
- · If desired, meet for dinner (pizza, etc.) about 30-45 minutes after arrival and check-in.

Distance between stops is determined by time of day, weather conditions, car performance, smallest gas tank, weakest bladder, etc. We generally try to go 2 - 2-1/2 hours between stops, sometimes 3 hours. Too many stops can result in arriving at our destination town quite late in the evening.

HINTS FOR HAPPY CARAVANING GENERAL

- · Make sure you understand the planned route, approximate distance the caravan plans to travel that day, and the planned evening stop location. Have hotel number, road, town, etc.
 - At the beginning of the day, be ready to leave at the agreed upon time. Have a full tank of gas, full stomach, empty bladder, etc. by the departure time.

- If you have a CB radio, tune it to the agreed upon channel.
- Caravan will have a "lead car" at the front and a "sweep car" at the rear. The lead car will do its best to know the route and have a working CB radio.
- The slowest cars (or the car which is expected to be least dependable) should take positions near the front of the caravan.
- The "sweep car" (last) should drive with headlights on so it's easier for the lead car to see where the end of the caravan is. Sweep car should have a working CB.
- Once driving, try to keep a consistent interval between you and the car ahead of you. This helps avoid frequent speed changes farther back in the caravan.

If you think the caravan is going too fast or slow, call the leader on your CB or signal some other car in some way. However, keep in mind that no two Triumph speedometers read the same. Some can be 10-20 mph off. The leader usually tries to drive at about the legal speed limit. Therefore, it's important to keep your interval with other cars to minimize need to slow way down or speed way up.

- · If the caravan needs to make an unplanned stop for repairs, personal comfort, etc. and the group has been driving for at least 1-1/2 hours, fill up with gas if you have a chance. Will prevent getting "out of sync" with the other cars.
- For driving variety (especially on Interstates), switch driving order once in a while by passing a couple of caravan cars or having several pass you. Keeps the "scenery" a little different and occupies your mind.

COMMUNICATIONS

· A CB radio is most effective and enjoyable for short ranges. At the start of the day, find out which channel will be used. Use the CB to give instructions, tell of problems, comment on society, etc. Makes the trip seem shorter.

- · If you have an operating cell phone, give your number to leader (if leader has a phone) and get other car's numbers. Shouldn't need the phone, but it might help if group gets separated.
- If you see a problem with anyone else's car, try to signal them and explain what it is.

TROUBLE/UNPLANNED STOPS/EMERGEN-CIES, ETC.

- · If your car has trouble (or if you need an emergency stop for personal reasons) try to locate a rest area or wide shoulder. Signal caravan leader that you are pulling off. Entire caravan will probably stop if it's safe to do so. If not, caravan will pull off on next exit or road.
- Pull as far off the pavement as possible. Turn on flashers (if you have them)
- · If you get out of your car to work on it, try to stay on the passenger side of the car, away from passing traffic. Keep anyone who is helping you on that side too. Don't forget about passing high speed traffic which will be surprised by a number of cars parked along the shoulder.
- When pulling back onto the highway, it usually works best if everyone is ready to roll, then the last car pulls on to the road to "block" for the others. Sounds good but doesn't always work, especially on Interstates.

LEAVING THE CARAVAN to) leave the caravan for personal or mechanical reasons, make sure someone knows that the caravan shouldn't wait for you or look for you. Try to inform the caravan leader or sweep car.

If you plan to meet up with the caravan later in the day or at the evening stop, know where caravan plans to stop for the night. Get hotel phone number, etc. if possible.

Derhaps you have given some consideration to the prospect of "trailering" your Triumph rather than driving it, to various Triumph events. Your humble and obedient scribe has had some limited experience in this endeavor an would like to share a few observations on this topic. The advantages to dragging your Triumph are significant; you arrive at your destination somewhat less the worse for wear; you can enjoy creature comforts, not to mention peace of mind, not usually found in forty year old British sportscars, i.e. air conditioning, heated seats with voicer activated lumbar support, CDs or satellite radio, cruise control, etc. The other advantage to trailering is that when one of the cars in the caravan breaks down [note I said when, not if] the caravan will cheerfully commandeer your tow vehicle for the car that has been disabled and you will get to drive your car after all, whether you wanted to or not. Your ISOA comrades will also help fill all that surplus space you have by loading their luggage, spare parts, tools, pre-schoolers, extra coolers, free weights, etc in your tow vehicle. For these reasons, trailers are always welcome on ISOA caravans.

With this is mind, we can't have our "chase car" be just any old SUV with a trailer hitch and thus we here at Snic Braaapp Towers have given serious thought to the selection of our ISOA tow vehicle and have selected the above truck as the official ISOA tow vehicle for 2005.

Editor's note: We here at Snic Braaapp Towers have always been extremely concerned with preserving the environment [Save the ales!] and, as stewards of Mother Earth, we proudly recyle, especially when it comes to articles for the newsletter. The following text first appeared on the pages of Snic Braaap in March of 1987. We felt with the driving season upon us, and the likelihood of long, intervals between pit stops, this information would be most appropriate. The suggestions here are intended for those individuals whose personal plumbing systems are of the "convex" variety. For any readers of the "concave" [and you know who you are] persuasion, remember what the nuns always told you-"Keep those legs crossed!" RELIEF AT SEVENTY. By Gordon Baxter

I've learned something from every good driver I've ever ridden with. Stayed tuned to what he was sensing, felt the subtle shift of weight from wheel to wheel, remembered the downshifting onrush of corners as he saw them, the braking point, the time to feed it again. I've learned, always wishing there were more. Better machines, better drivers to sit beside. I always hunger for the limits.

"Works of art are indeed always products of having been in danger, of having gone to the very end in an experience, to where man can go no further."—Rainer Maria Rilke (1875-1926), Letters.

I am not ashamed of the times I have made a fool of myself. I once tried to learn four-wheel drifts at low speeds on glare ice. I brought out the neighbors, shouting, and paid for the shrubbery. But I've never had a car over on its back. Never hurt anyone.

I have never driven in real competition, so I have no idea of how good or bad I may be. In midnight drags back in my salad days I had a full-house Ford tudor that looked stock except for the 800-16s on the rear. I could leave its driveshaft lying hot and smoking on the pave any time I wanted to. But by careful milking I could devour those first-year Olds 88s and Hudson Hornets, which had six pistons, big as syrup cans. That was back when those cars were the devourers.

Fiflyish and bifocaled now, but the tiger still alive, I drive pussycats with good handling. My frontal lobe holds the whip over the tiger, who still pads to and fro in the dark back caves of my mind. A reasonable man must bargain honestly with his years. I am a survivor more than a hero.

And yet I come before this company of good drivers, men the age of my sons, and offer to you something that may be of value: a driving technique, if not invented by me, at least being first told by me.

My native state of Texas is embarrassingly big. Not so big as Alaska, true, but Alaska is not paved with tens of thousands of miles of straight, flat asphalt that sometimes notches both horizons, the one before you and the one behind you, without a curve or a side road to surprise you. There are deer, both buck and John, to test you. A John Deere tractor on the road in transport gear appears to be standing still when suddenly uncovered in a low valley from a rise that has lifted your car on its springs, But Texas farm-to-market roads are cut to a 50-foot right-of-way instead of the usual 35, and with a steady hand and good steel radials a combine can be taken on either side. Do not go back, however, to help him find his hat. He will kill you, and tell God you died

I drive to Dallas a lot. It's five hours at a steady 70, if you do not stop to eat. A long way. You could fit the entire troubled Middle East into central Texas

We respect the Texas State Highway Patrol DPS, we call them—Department of Public Safety. Trained in driving academies, the trooper in his broad-brimmed hat is mounted in a black-and-white Plymouth that shudders when it idles. Do not contest him. But he is fair, and unspoken is the belief that the DPS will allow you 9 mph over 55 if you look sane and sober and are not crowding the weather or the traffic.

Texas plants wildflowers along the beautiful, loping miles. A Texas trip is a car tester. Along the endless open miles you see fan belts, twisted and blown treads, and many "last chance" signs at desolate little wayside stops: "Last chance for fuel, for coffee, or whatever needs may be pressing you."

We plan a Texas cross-country as carefully as any pilot would. We figure lime, distance, fuel, and many of us carry a thermos of hundred-mile coffee.

The coffee solves one problem, creates another: to ride on into the pain and pressure, or to make an average-destroying pit stop. This is how I discovered, may have invented, the 70-mph relief.

At 70, even at 60, there is sufficient slipstream around a slightly opened car door to create a powerful low-pressure area. A localized venturi effect. Do not be encumbered. All lower garments should be down around the knees; farther down hogties the ankles, and the feet must be apart. The right is positioned steadily on the accelerator, the left slightly drawn back to provide a strong knee brace against the open door without distraction. Serious concentration is vital to this operation.

The seat harness must be removed, of course, in order to roll one's body to the left, hips thrust as far as possible toward the rush at the door. Pick light traffic—the novice may swerve or veer a little at first. Then have confidence in the venturi effect.

It is here that my experience in aeronautical matters has proven to be so valuable to me, although this feat is not possible in light cabin planes so far as I know. The problem in planes is that the door can't be closed again against the extreme low-pressure area at that point of the fuselage curve. Also, the 100-mph-plus speeds tend to empty the cabin of vital navigational charts, loose items of clothing, small pets, etc. An open door in most general-aviation aircraft is not a control hazard, but there usually must be a landing to close it, and in the interval all communications will be in sign language.

In aviation there are devices available from pilots'-accessory stores that will aid a pilot in matching the fivehour endurance of his aircraft. But we are not speaking here of airplanes, we are speaking of sports cars. A sports car is any car that is driven in a sporting manner. I learned of the venturi effect through flying, and with enough passage of air you may count on this phenomenon with utter certainty. There is a vacuum, a funneling and channeling effect, on the downstream side of a venturi. Your partially opened car door provides the venturi. Experience will teach you the optimum speeds and the best door-opening angle.

The two primary elements here, other than the driver's individual nervous system, are a solidly braced knee at the open door and close attention to driving with one hand. Keep your eye on the road, trusting that everything else is going according to proven scientific principles. Do not keep glancing away from the road with an overconcern about neatness. The partial vacuum and centered wind pressures will direct everything for you with only the most casual aim. Drive the car.

Out of social courtesy, avoid populated areas. But insofar as I know, only the speed laws are being violated here. Avoid tailgating, so as not to have sudden need of your left foot for braking. Even if you are a skilled right-foot brake man, braking will cause an unwanted drop in wind velocity, a sudden deceleration might cause the open door to swing forward and cause eddies and burbles in the slipstream and a reversing of the venturi effect.

Swerving or hard braking might also upset your own delicate balance. There is some element of chance in this system of relief, but there is no truly flawless scheme. In this case your door is open and you are leaning toward it—braced, balanced, but with no seatbelt. A mishap might leave you to be found on some desolate stretch of highway, pants down around your knees, and the wreckage of your car perhaps miles on down the road. Friends, relatives, county officials, and the local press would forever be at a loss to explain how you did it.

In this age of elevated awareness of lime and energy management, we think the 70-mph-relief concept might be of value to some. The idea is not without historical precedent. During the great age of steam, the then carefully managed railroads provided at intervals a long, shallow trough of water between the rails, and a signal board to tell the engineer when to deploy the scoop beneath his mighty, rushing locomotive to fill the lender with boiler feed water without the costly and time-consuming tank stops.

What we have here, in essence, is the same concept with reverse flow. Slightly hazardous, yes. But so is space flight, and man's reach should always exceed his grasp.

THE GO-ANYWHERE SOLUTION FOR MEN

This holiday season, show your man you love him—give him the freedom to relieve himself whenever, wherever he chooses. The portable commode from Duluth Trading Co. (www.duluthtrading.com) is the perfect potty solution for hunters, construction workers or guys too lazy to come in from the garage to use the bathroom.

It resembles a bucket with a toilet seat slapped on it. Actually it is a bucket with a. toilet seat slapped on it. The basic unit (seat only) costs 10 bucks, the deluxe set (bucket included) sells for $5 more. Duluth guarantees that their product is hygienic, which should allay those germ-phobic men who publicly use pails as waste receptacles.

With 5 gallons of capacity, the portable commode can be used time and time again, ensuring that your man will remember your generosity well into the coming year.

MODERN TIRES FOR CLASSIC SPORTSCARS

Re-shoeing with radials By Kelvin Dodd

One of the most frequently asked questions faced by the Moss Motors technical department is, "What size tire should I buy?" In response, here's a size-matters look at the four black round things that keep your sportscar from dragging on the ground.

Luckily, British sportscars were originally designed with a fairly limited range of wheel and tire combinations (see OEM Sizes chart,). So, we can begin by lumping some applications together. In the interest of simplicity, the original fittings are followed by some caveats. (Purists please note: We are quite aware of the minor production differences and have chosen the most popular OE sizes.)

BEHIND THE NUMBERS

Tires were originally made with stiffcarcassed bias-ply construction. Michelin patented the radial design in 1946. Radials offer several performance advantages over bias-plies because the sidewalls are more compliant. (Courtesy Coker Tire)

These factory-fitment tires have Numeric System sizing. The first digits indicate the nominal cross-sectional width of the tire, and the last digits are the wheel rim diameter. The approximate diameter of the tires can be determined by digging into auld tire lore. An aspect ratio is the percentage of the section height to section width, and Numeric System tires had a nominal 88-92 aspect ratio. Compare this to modern tires with 50-60 aspect ratios (commonly called "series") and it becomes obvious that your classic chariot was designed to operate on tires that were very tall and skinny in comparison to the rubber strips masquerading as tires on today's sport-compact street racers.

Original-style bias-ply (known to Brits as "cross-ply") tires have a much narrower tread width or contact patch than modern radial tires. This becomes an important issue when understanding the loading experienced by early suspension designs. With a typical tread width of less than 4", the original bias-ply tires break free easily, reducing the loading on the wheels and suspension. Watching early sportscar racing footage shows that the current sport-compact "drifting" craze is far from a modern phenomena. Going sideways around corners with the tail hanging out was the real test of sportscar driving. Even with these early tires, wheel failure was a problem, and most manufacturers had to increase wheel strength to withstand spirited driving.

As tire technology advanced, these changes influenced factory chassis engineering. Radial tires were first fitted as options, then later as standard equipment.

The first radial tires to see service on British sportscars were labeled in the Metric Sizing System, which again did not have a stated aspect ratio. By this time, "low profile" tires were popular, and the aspect ratio ranged from 78 to 82 depending on manufacturer and date, the earlier tires being taller. Comparing the original-fitment radial tires with the earlier OE bias-ply sizes shows how little the diameter—and hence, gearing—changed (see Original Fitment Sizes chart, page 18).

Unfortunately, many of the original sizes are no longer available, so wider, lower-profile tires are substituted. The resulting domino effect causes changes in gearing and steering effort—and often a decrease in safety and handling. Much of these cars' charm comes from their nimble feeling, which is often lost with overly wide tires. Heavy low-speed steering and a lack of crispness when cornering are symptoms of too wide a tire. At a certain point, wider isn't better, and it's important to check wheel widths and choose tires that are matched correctly to the wheel. In some cases this means ordering tires from companies that specialize in vintage tires because modern radials are too wide to be safe on the original wheels.

Matching factory tire diameter is also necessary to retain correct odometer accuracy, ride height, and final-drive gearing. Aesthetically, a tire that's too short may look out of place in the wheelwell. The Typical Modern Tire Sizes charts that follow on page 18 give calculated dimensions of available tires; compare these diameters and recommended

When completing a restoration, many choices affect safety. Maintaining the car's original look and handling are important to many restorers, yet when it comes time to choose tires, cost and availability often outweigh aesthetics. Luckily, a few companies (some of which are listed below) specialize in stock, period-correct bias-ply tires for British sportscars for those who want to accurately restore early cars. If driving safety is a priority, though, modern-tech radials are available that fit well and offer increased handling and safety. Just don't be tempted to install an incorrect-size tire because it's on sale. Use this article to help enjoy your sportscar the way its engineers intended.

Triumph Prewar Profiles Triumph 10/20

Part I, by Bob "Suds" Streepy

The history of the Triumph Motorcar L Company may be divided quite simply into two phases; Prewar Independent-1923-39 and postwar subsidiary of Standard [and later of British Leyland]-1948-81. Prior to the Second World War, Triumph produced a series of critically acclaimed, but largely unprofitable and slow selling automobiles. Had it not been for the outbreak of World War II, it is quite probable that the marque would have faded into oblivion permanently with the collapse of business as a car manufacturer, which coincided with the Nazi invasion of Poland. Following the war, the Standard Motorcar Company, under the direction of the mercurial Sir John Black and builder of generally stodgy sedans, bought the rights to the Triumph name, hoping to give their image a lift. By the 1950's Standard-Triumph, as it was then known, had launched a series of sportscars that would ultimately become extremely popular, particularly in North America.

Triumph fanciers here on the left coast of the pond are quite understandably unfamiliar with pre-war Triumph automobiles, since so few were exported to these shores. In my twenty years of attending VTR's and various British Car shows, I have only seen two prewar Triumphs, both of which were Glorias. To that end, [and because we are still rehabbing from back surgery and we would rather read and write about Triumphs than keep up with daytime soap operas], your humble and obedient scribe has taken it upon himself to do a little scholarly research on this topic and share his findings with you in a series of Snic Braaapp installments starting with the first four wheel Triumphs of the 1920's and 30's.

The English motorcar company that bore the name of Triumph was actually begun by a German immigrant whose business career started with selling American sewing machines. Siegfried Bettman arrived in London in 1884 seeking employment as a translator. The work was too dull for his tastes and he took a job with the London branch of the White Sewing Machine Company, eventually starting his own sewing machine import/export business. He observed the increased popularity of bicycling which occurred in the late 19th Century and decided to enter that business. Along with fellow German immigrant and partner Mauritz Schulte, they chose the name Triumph for their venture since they believed it had a universal connotation for success.

In 1902 Bettman and Schulte decided to follow the precedent of many other bicycle manufacturers by attaching a gasoline engine to their bikes, thus entering the motorcycle business. With the outbreak of World War I in 1914, the company received an order for 100 motorcycles and the bikes earned such a reputation for dependability that they became known as the "Triumph Trusty." Before war's end, thirty thousand bikes bearing the name Triumph went off to war.

Following the Armistice, many motorcycle builders in England branched out into production of automobiles, and Triumph followed suit in 1923 with the production of the 10/20 [10 Royal Automobile Club horsepower rating/20 brake hp]. The first car to bear the name Triumph, the one whose automotive DNA is in all of ours today, had a wheelbase of 102 inches and was powered by a 1393 CC four cylinder sidevalve [flathead] engine, mated to a four-speed transmission, capable of propelling the little car at a top speeds of 62 MPH according to a 1923 test drive by Autocar Magazine. Buyers could choose from three body styles, two or four seat touring cars and a saloon [always a favorite of mine, but I digress.] AKA a sedan to us Yanks. The bodies were produced by a separate coachbuilder.

The company attempted to market the car as "The Quality Light Car," pricing it above the entry level models from Austin and Morris, but below the more upscale competition. Company advertising emphasized the fit and finish and the leather appointments, but the plan did not work out particularly well and sales were less than anticipated. [Apparently the "niche" market wasn't what Triumph had anticipated.] Eventually the 10/20 was followed by the more powerful 13/35 [the first British car to feature four wheel hydraulic brakes]. and, later the 15/50, none of which caught the buying public's fancy to the extent that the company hoped. Actual production figures were destroyed in the Blitzkrieg, but sales were "soft" [estimates put the figure at about 2000] at best,

The car shown above right and on the back page is the oldest known Triumph Sports Tourer in existance. In 1990 it was located in Australia and had received a complete restoration, [and you thought you trouble finding parts.]

By the late 20's the company decided it was time to come out with a new product line, and thus was born the Super Seven. to be continued

While recuperating from our most recent [and hopefully final] back"procedure" we found ourselves with way too much time on our hands and took some small solace in browsing through a stack of old British car magazines courtesy of ISOA Secretary Emeritus Ken Kedzie. The styling of some of the cars that came from the UK and the continent was certainly "interesting". We are all familiar with the old saying "Beauty is in the eye of the Beholder," and to that end, we here at Snic Braaapp Towers have decided to put that old adage to the test. Here is a dozen "beauties" your editor came across. These are cars of marginal pulchritude, in our eyes at least, that only a mother [or in this case] their designer could love. [Odds are that these lovelies were designed by a committee.] Among these works of rolling art is a Triumph. See if you can pick which rose from among these thorns, came from Coventry. E-mail your pick to "trstreep@sbcglobal.net.". The first correct respondent receives a hearty handshake and a free beverage of his/her choice at an ISOA meeting on his birthday. Bonus points for identifying any of the non-Triumphs in the other dozen. Answers will appear in next month's newsletter Suds

6-Pack Trials 2005 Welcome Back to North Carolina

It is with great pleasure that we once again host the 6-Pack Trials this September 15-18. Little Switzerland is located on the scenic Blue Ridge Parkway in the middle of the Blue Ridge Mountain range. You are in for a real treat if you have never driven on this Parkway. Every turn will provide a scenic view as beautiful as the last. Near by is Mount Mitchell, the tallest peak east of the Mississippi. Drive to the top of this State Park and enjoy the view from its 6,684' elevation. There are several Gem mines nearby where you can try your luck at sluicing for that rare keepsake. Nearby are lots of area artisans. Blacksmiths, glass blowers, potters and wood carvers abound. Penland School of Folk Art is a scenic drive away. Take a trip into Asheville and visit the Folk Art Center and the Biltmore House. North Carolina offers lots of hiking trails and beautiful waterfalls just waiting for your exploration. Our host hotel, the Switzerland Inn, has a stunning view off the back of the mountain it is located on. So just pull up a chair and enjoy the beauty of North Carolina. It's good to have you back again!

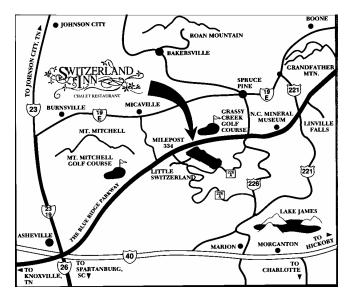

Thursday, September 15 Arrivals. Registration will be open from 3:00pm to 8:00pm. Make yourselves at home. Test your skills on our Name the Part Contest. Check out the brochures of all the area attractions.

Friday, September 16 Registration opens at 8:00am and closes at 5:00pm. There will be a general membership meeting from 9:30am to 11:00am. Please plan on attending. Our activities start out with a Poker Run at 1:00pm. We have a very special Tech session scheduled for 3:00pm. Our honored guests, Lawton "Lanky" Foushee and Bill Warner, will be talking about the Group 44 TR6 that won the 1975 and 1976 SCCA D production championships. Yes, the car will be on display as well. Don't miss this one! Friday evening we hope you bring your appetite. There will be an outdoor BBQ dinner at 7:00pm. Join us after dinner for the Spark Plug Challenge and a "very special game".

Saturday, September 17 Registration opens at 8:00am and closes at 10:00am. Water hoses will be available for cleaning cars (and drivers if necessary). The car show will begin at 10:00am and run until 1:00pm on the hotel grounds. Following the car show, we have a scenic fun rally planned. A great ride to enjoy the area countryside. The Awards Banquet will begin at 7:00pm.

Sunday, September 18 I can't believe the weekend is over already. Breakfast, goodbyes and talk of Trials 2006 before you head out. Thanks for attending and have a safe journey home.

HEAD CASE

How do you diagnose a blown head gasket? By observing the head-to-block joint, maybe, or with a compression tester, perhaps.

Well, there are other ways. A nutty geezer I know suspected the gasket had blown on his Vitesse, disappeared down the tail-end with the engine running and reappeared io confirm that the gasket was indeed, faulty.

So how did he know? Well, pretty simple, he put his hand over the exhaust and then licked it proclaiming that there was the distinct taste of antifreeze.

I kid you not. What about bad breath? Well, in his case, at least it toned it down a little. TedConnolly crowd of nearly sixty ISOAers celebrated the beginning of daylight savings time, and hopefully, some daylight for a change, by attending the April meeting of the Illinois Sports Owners Association on Sunday April 6th. It was the nicest day of the year to date and this was further evidenced by the presence of at least ten Triumphs in the parking lot, surely the largest assembly of Triumphs in the state to this point in the year.

April 6th ISOA General Meeting Notes, [In Case You Missed It]

President Joe Pawlak got the proceedings under way a little after seven by introducing the board and the officers. There were no new members in attendance this month. Sherri Pyle announced that the club coffers were still ample and Tim Buja provided a VTR Convention update. To date there were 38 cars preregistered. Tim also displayed some of the regalia, which is now beginning to come in from various vendors. Some of the items appear on page 23 of this month's newsletter.

Dave Kayson [pictured above] also spoke of the progress being made by the ISOA house band [Spinal Tappets] and listed some of the songs that will be performed at the welcome reception on Tuesday at VTR. Among the repertoire will be: Rust in the Tin, originally performed by Kansas, Gearbox [the Who], Losing My Transmission [REM], and Smoke on the Dashboard [Deep Purple]. The band also plans to perform an encore after the banquet for ISOA in particular and any out of town guests in general. It should be a good time. Your humble and obedient scribe also spoke briefly to the audience in hopes of recruiting several reporters to jot down a few lines and snap a picture or two for our special edition Snicc Braaapp Extra covering the convention. [So far the response has been underwhelming]

While Tim had the floor, he also mentioned that he would updating the membership roster soon and that anyone with changes in address, name, email, phone number, gender, etc, should email or call him to make sure that the data base is accurate. Joe also mentioned that Bob Donile has had some health issues and asked that we keep him in our thoughts as he recovers, hopefully in time to lend his key making expertise to the tune-up clinic scheduled for the 23rd

Following Tim's report, Jack "Spuds" Billimack spoke about events, past, present and future, with the emphasis on the latter. He began by encouraging members to attend the aforementioned tune-up clinic at the Bill and Sheri's home in Itasca on the 23rd of April. [Sheri did mention that a turkey dinner with all of the fixin's was NOT scheduled for this event] As an added incentive, this month's raffle included a tune kit [plugs, points, rotor, cap and air filter [s]. [Pat Lobdell was the lucky winner.] Jack then went on encourage everyone to attend Paul Watts' spring get together at United Classic Motors on May 7th. Tentative plans included getting together at the Nest Café in Bartlett at 8:30 on Saturday morning and the driving to Naperville to UCM. The clinic will provide lift time and also a chance for under carriage inspection according to VTR concours guidelines for anyone planning to participate in the judge concours in Rockford this summer. Jack also described a special cruise night in Crystal Lake on May 17th, which will include a concert by American English, a Beatles tribute band that is highly regarded. Jack has told the event organizers that we provide about twenty cars, so if you're free on Thursday the 17th [if you aren't free, maybe you at least reasonable] come on out for a free concert under the stars in beautiful downtown Crystal Lake. The Peoria British Car show will be on June 4th and Jack, who has attended in the past, indicated that is a worthwhile event to keep in mind. The Champaign Show will be held over Memorial Day weekend and several members indicated that would be caravaning down on Friday. The Michiana show in South bend will be June 12th and the ISOA Spring campout will be at Blackhawk Farms on June 18—19th. Denny Capetto is heading up this activity. Call him if you have questions or concerns about the activities. The following day, June 19th is the Wisconsin British Car Show in Sussex. Jack concluded by mentioning the Triumph Register of America national convention in Branson Missouri on June 23-5. Tim Smith indicated that he planned to attend, as has Mark Moore. If you are interested in caravanning, call Tim or Mark to make arrangements,

After a break, Bill Jensen announced that he was now the proud owner of a TR3, much to the relief of former co-owner Barb Billimack. Joe Kaplon announced that he was back ordered on floor pans for his TR3 but that he hoped that with Denny Capetto's help, he would have it done in time for VTR. Ed Krakowiak brought a few spare TR6 parts to sell. Tim Buja announced that he was making progress on getting his Stag back on the road and Joe Pawlak said that his Spitfire project was approaching completion. Paul Watts asked if any body had any TR3 front fenders for sale, Al Christopher said he was looking for TR2 over riders, Joe said he is looking for bonnet latches for his Spit and Jack Billimack indicated he was searching for a gearbox tunnel for his Herald, which he added is now sporting powder coated wheels, thanks to Joe" House of Powder in Hampshire.

The Peter M. Roberts nominees were: Bill Jensen for buying Jack's TR3, Joe Pawlak, for powdercaoting Jack's wheels, Bill Pyle for helping Phil Fox repair a transmission, and Jack Billimack [the winner] for delivering Sherri's Boomer from last month so that she could ride her bike to the meeting.

The Boomer nominees were Denny Capetto for repairing the Horns on Gloria's TR3 only to find that now the turns signals don't work, and the Sherri for not displaying her previous month's Boomer with the prominence that it so richly deserves [She had the audacity to keep in the trunk of her Buick all month!]. Sherri will now get a second opportunity to display her award in an appropriate place of prominence on Linden Street. As mentioned above, Pat Lobdell won the raffle for the tune-up parts and Jack won the grab bag for a new flashlight, always a good thing to have on hand when driving a Triumph at night. The meeting adjourned around nine.

With apologies fro any errors or omissions, your humble and obedient scribe.

Bill and Kim Jensen are proud to announce their newset addition to their family - a 1961 TR3A. The bundle of joy weighed 955 KG and measured 151 inches. It was adopted from the famous "Spuds Collection," in Crystal Lake, much to Barb's dismay. Parents and baby were doing well at press time. Stay tuned to see if they still feel that way.

Lots More!

Bill Jensen finds out why Jack's cars never use oil.

The winding, twisting, narrow roads of England make the TR6 solid, tough and beautiful to drive.

In England, we're not enthusiastic about driving in a straight line. Here cars must be built with an uncanny ability to handle and perform, safely and accurately. As epitomized in the classic Triumph TR6.

At its heart, a beautiful high-performance 6-cylinder engine developing 106 horsepower and 133 ft. lbs. of torque. Two powerful reasons for its quick response.

To that, add precise rack & pinion steering, plus 4-wheel independent suspension, and the twists and curves of English roads become more than just negotiable. Triumph engineering keeps the TR6 foursquare in the groove on the hairiest hairpin turn.

In addition, because you don't know what's around the next bend, it's good to know the TR6 has big 10.9 inch disc brakes up front to stop you even more quickly than it goes.

If you share our passion about driving, test drive a TR6. On the winding, twisting, narrow roads of America.

The Classically British Triumph TR6.
